REAL ESTATE DEAL INVOLVING $50,000 IS CLOSED HERE TODAY

Earl Reeve Disposes of Property of
Late J. B. Reeve to Peoples
Loan and Trust Co.

IN TURN IS SOLD TO OTHERS

Ed Tyner Buys Room Tailoring
Business is Located in and R.
H. Jones Casady Store Room

One of the largest real estate deals in the history of the city was consummated today when the Peoples Loan and Trust company took over all of the property owned by Earl Reeve of Chicago. The property was originally owned by the late Capt. J. B. Reeve and Mrs. Alice Reeve and includes two valuable business pieces, several residence properties, the Reeve homestead in North Main street and thirteen acres of land just east of the city.

Mr. Reeve, in closing out his Rushville property, disposed of all the real estate. The transaction involved a total of almost $50,000. The Peoples Loan and Trust company in turn has disposed of several pieces of the property and deals are pending for the disposal of additional parts. While no figures were given out, it was stated that the entire property brought between $45,000 and $50,000.

Roy H. Jones of the R. H. Jones Company, purchased the building occupied by the E. R. Casady dry goods store from the Peoples Loan and Trust company. No consideration was made public. This is the room originally occupied by the J. B. Reeve dry goods store years ago and has always been used for a dry goods store. The room will continue to be occupied by the Casady store.

Edward Tyner bought the room in which his tailoring business is now located.

The thirteen acres of land east of the city has been purchased by Lon Stewart. Other property of the Reeve estate includes the homestead in North Main street, two rental properties in West Third street, two double houses in North Morgan street, and a lot in West Eighth street.

Several other deals for the balance of this property are said to be pending and the necessary papers are being drawn at this time.

In all, nine separate pieces of real estate were included in the transaction. Actual figures on some of the deals could not be obtained because the deeds and other legal papers have not been completed. This was true in regard to the purchase of the homestead in North Main street.

TODAY'S HOOSIER ODDITY

Columbus, Ind., April 13.—Charging that her husband purposely broke a mirror, bringing seven years of bad luck, Mrs. Rose A. Strange has filed suit for divorce.

Intelligent Majority

The progressive dealers of the city know that fully one-half the purchases made are made by women.

They know, also, that women are intelligent buyers. Fully one-half the advertisements in The Daily Republican are especially addressed to women.

No woman can afford to admit that she is one of the unintelligent minority by neglecting to read systematically and seriously the advertisements in The Daily Republican.

The woman serves herself best who avails herself of the service of the advertising columns of The Daily Republican.

Chance Seen to Get a Library

Site in Third Street, Which Belonged to Reeve Estate, Considered by Library Board

LOGICAL TIME RIGHT NOW

With the disposal of the Reeve property today it was brought to light that one of the properties was being seriously considered as a site for a Carnegie library building. The property under consideration is that in West Third street, just west of the D. D. VanOsdol home and within one-half square of the traction station.

The library board, it was stated, has been considering a proposition for a library building and this site is now under consideration. At present the proposed site is occupied by a double house on the alley and another frame dwelling. The lot is 82½ feet wide and 165 feet long. Nothing definite has been done, but now is considered the logical time for action by many citizens.

This property is now owned by the Peoples Loan and Trust company, having been taken over today from Earl Reeve. The present library facilities are becoming too small and something will have to be done in a short time, one member of the library board pointed out today. The library has enjoyed phenomenal growth. New books are constantly being added and the list of patrons grows each month. The library is not self-sustaining, or rather is being maintained by the city with a tax levy for this purpose.

Several sites for the proposed library have been considered. The Reeve property, while not a corner lot, can be secured at a nominal

RUNAWAY HORSE BREAKS ITS NECK

One of Team Strikes Electric Light
Pole When Trying to Make
Turn Into An Alley

BELONGED TO STICK BEBOUT

Silverton (Stick) Bebout lost a valuable horse this morning in a runaway accident. The horse, one of a fine team, sustained a broken neck when it fell as it was attempting to turn in the alley by the George Wingerter home in West Second street, striking an electric light pole. The team started running near the George Smalley livery barn in East Second street. They raced like mad through the business district and barely missed hitting several other rigs and persons.

They continued to run, heading towards the barn. The team was going too fast to make the turn into the alley and both slipped on the brick streets. The horse struck the pole a hard blow and resulted in instant death. The other animal was not hurt. Bebout had owned the team only a short time and valued the horse very highly.

SLIGHT DAMAGE BY FIRE

Only very slight damage was done to the roof of William Frame's house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyons, in the rear of the Windsor hotel in First street, at noon today when fire broke out. No cause could be assigned for it unless a spark from a chimney of the hotel ignited the roof. The fire department threw only a little water.

EXPLAINS WHAT I. & C. WILL DO

Charles L. Henry Explains to Audience in Cincinnati How Extension Will Reach City

TO BE RUN FROM RUSHVILLE

Will Enter Over C. & W. Railway to Queen City Avenue and Thence to Loop and Terminal

President Charles L. Henry made plain in an address in Cincinnati last night just what the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company will do if the loop is built. He spoke in favor of the loop ordinance and explained how the extension would be made from Rushville and what course it would take when it reached the city.

The meeting was well attended. Mr. Henry, in supporting the proposed lease ordinance, said in part:

The question of the voters of Cincinnati next Tuesday is not whether or not they will build a rapid transit and interurban loop. That was determined upon and $60,000, 000 bonds voted for it. The law back of the lease made for the canal to the city and the lease made in accordance with that law requires that when a contract is made for the operation of the rapid transit loop that contract must be approved by the popular vote of the city. The Council has made such a contract and embodied in it an ordinance and a vote of the citizens of Cincinnati next Tuesday will be whether or not they will approve that contract.

I shall not undertake to discuss in any way the general provisions of this ordinance and contract other than in so far as they apply to and affect interurbans.

It has been argued by various people that the contract will not permit interurbans to enter the city and will practically deprive them of the use of the loop. This claim is not founded on fact.

The act of the Legislature and the lease made in conformity with it both require that whenever a contract is made such as this for the operation of the loop the company

CAPTURE ANOTHER MILE GERMAN LINES

British Armies Continue Smashing Tactics and Threaten Pivotal Point at Arras

ALSO DOMINATE THE AIR

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

With the British Armies, April 13.—Another mile of the Hindenberg lines was captured by the British forces today. Possession of the new points by General Haig's troops more and more threatened the pivotal point of the German lines around Arras.

Desperation stalks between the German lines. Prisoners of war are being used to dig trenches in order to relieve all Germans for fighting. Men employed in non-military work such as transport drivers, bandmen and chauffeurs were pressed into fighting service.

Reinforcements have been asked for. Repeated and fruitless efforts were being made by German airmen to fly over British lines and learn where the next British blows would be made. The British dominate the air. Germans were swept from the air.

Bluffton—Twenty young men of Bluffton signified their intention of enlisting in a company of National Guard for this city, at the first organization meeting.

WORD ADDITIONAL IS MISCONSTRUED

$5,000 Needed to Build Factory For Modern Appliance Co., Specified in Report

NO EXTRA IS BEING ADDED

What Will be Board of Directors Organizes as Board of Agents and Elects Officers

The word "additional," as used in a story in the Daily Republican last night regarding $5,000 more being needed to buy a site and erect a building for the Modern Appliance Co., of Chicago, which will be located here, was misconstrued by some people.

It will be recalled that when negotiations for the location of the concern were first started, it was stated that it could be brought here if $10,000 worth of stock were sold. This did not take in to account providing a building for the factory. It should also be remembered that S. L. Trabue and R. L. Tompkins, who investigated the factory at Chicago, in their written report, said that at least $15,000 and possibly $20,000 should be subscribed, in order to put the factory on a good working basis.

When $10,000 was subscribed, it was said that there would be no doubt about bringing the factory and then the workers started out to get $5,000 more. It is not "additional" in the sense some construed the word, but is the remainder of the sum originally fixed to be raised. There is no suitable place to place the factory, and besides, stockholders want to put the concern in its own building so it will have every chance to succeed.

What will be the board of directors of the concern when it is incorporated, has organized as the board of agents to be in charge of the funds being subscribed and to make other arrangements regarding location. The board has elected Erling Falk of Chicago, president; R. L. Tompkins of this city, vice-president; J. Vincent Murray of Chicago, secretary; Will Dill of this city, treasurer. President Falk returned to Chicago today.

THREE DIRECTORS WILL BE ELECTED

Annual Meeting of Stockholders of Rushville Co-Operative Telephone Company at 7:30

FINANCIAL REPORT READY

Three directors to serve for a period of two years will be elected at the annual stockholders meeting tonight of the Rushville Co-Operative Telephone company. The directors whose time has expired are John H. Frazee, Robert L. Tompkins and Frank Capp. Indications today were that all three would be re-elected as there appeared to be no opposition.

Chief interest in the meeting centers on the annual financial statement of the company. The report will show that the company prospered during the year. The indebtedness of the company, it was understood, was reduced $10,000 during the year and from all indications the remaining indebtedness of $9,000 will be wiped out before the end of the next fiscal year. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court house starting at seven-thirty o'clock.

ATTENTION TURNED TO GUARD AGAINST A SURPRISE ATTACK

Extra Session Very Probable

Appropriation to Prosecute the War Will be Sole Purpose For Calling Legislature.

CONFERENCE WITH GOODRICH

BULLETIN

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Special session of legislature will not be called now or in near future, Governor Goodrich announced late this afternoon.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—That a special session of the legislature will be called shortly was believed practically certain this afternoon when legislative leaders of both parties went into conference with Governor Goodrich to discuss the question.

All five men called by the governor for the conference were believed to favor holding the special session as soon as possible.

The governor outlined his plans to the legislators, suggesting that it be confined to financial matters. This met with favor.

Sentiment among those present was that the legislature should appropriate from one million to two million dollars to prosecute the war. If any of the amount remained after the war this would be turned back to the state treasury.

"Since we are now in the war, it is up to Indiana to make it a victory," said Senator Simmons. "When the legislature was in session we had no idea war was so close at hand and of course made no preparation for it."

"I certainly believe the legislature should do its work in the least time possible and confine its activity to the questions which will be outlined by the governor."

PROCLAMATION TO BE ENFORCED HERE

Chief of Police Gets Orders to Watch for Violations of Orders Regarding Aliens

NO WEAPONS ARE ALLOWED

Chief of Police Yakey today received orders from Washington to enforce President Wilson's proclamation regarding the taking charge of all firearms and other articles which an alien enemy is not permitted to possess during the war. Similar orders were sent to every police department in the country. As far as is known there are no alien enemies here but the police will keep a close watch for any violation of the proclamation.

Under the orders from Washington alien enemies have no right to have in their possession any firearms, weapons or implement of war, or component part thereof, ammunition, maxim or other silencer, bomb, or explosive, or material used in the manufacture of explosives; any aircraft or wireless apparatus, or any form of signaling device or any form of cipher code, or papers, document, or book written or printed in cipher or in which there may be invisible writing.

President Issues Proclamation Creating Defensive Areas at All Important Harbors

CONGRESS DEBATES FINANCE

Voluntary Restrictions of Liquor Traffic by Reducing Grain Consumption Proposed

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, April 13.—While congress debated the seven billion dollar bond issue bill today all executive departments of the government turned their attention to protecting American shores from surprise attacks and safeguard food shipments to the entente.

President Wilson issued a proclamation creating a defensive area at all important harbors of the United States within a radius of from two to ten miles in which no ships can penetrate except at certain times and under certain conditions.

Means of bringing enemy ships into food service were discussed by Secretaries McAdoo and Redfield. Three plans present themselves as follows: seize the vessels of all enemies; requisition of the vessels by eminent domain, or allow Americans to purchase the vessels.

House debate on the bond issue bill developed the expressions of fear that Wall street would gain control of the issue. Representative Mason of Illinois urged popular subscription to the bonds.

A suggestion that money loaned to the allies should only be spent in the United States was squelched. Many members want the bill to stipulate that all money be loaned only to countries at war with Germany.

Voluntary restrictions of liquor manufacture during the war were proposed to the agricultural department by representatives of the largest distilleries of the country. They presented a plan to cut down the amount of grain used in the manufacture of alcohol fifteen million bushels a year. They suggested that a special tax be imposed on material used in the manufacture of liquor, which would have a tendency to cut down the supply.

NEW SUBMARINE WARNING

U-Boats Reported to be Enroute to Northern Pacific Route

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, April 13.—New warning of the presence of German submarines in the Pacific was issued today. It said submarines had been reported seen near the Mexican coast. It is believed the submarines are enroute to the northern route of steamers over which huge shipments of munitions have been sent to Russia.

FAREWELL TO HUNTINGTON

This has been the custom here for years to hold a union meeting for a departing pastor. The Rev. Mr. Huntington has been appointed superintendent of the northern Indiana district of the church.

Buenos Aires, April 13.—Indications of a serious crisis between England and Spain were contained in Madrid dispatches received here. They asserted that the British ambassador at Madrid had been sent to the front on a special train. It was said Spain was expelling him on suspicious

To Live Long!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you sweat—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid." For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, scalding "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get Anuric (double strength). This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will know that it is many times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

HOME FOLKS TESTIFY.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—"I have been made most comfortable by the use of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. When I started to take this medicine my right kidney pained me at each excretion and my back ached all the time and was so stiff I could scarcely get up after lying down. The first bottle I took of Anuric completely cured me of these conditions, and the rheumatism in my shoulders, hands and feet is diminishing so rapidly I can scarcely believe that Anuric has done so much for me in so short a time. I feel extremely grateful for this relief and am only too glad to recommend Anuric every chance I get."—Mrs. S. J. ROBERTS, 917 Cottage Ave.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Going It Too Hard?

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for much kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Frank McFarland, 830 W. Tenth street, Rushville, says: "Last winter my kidneys began to get weak and in a short time I was so bad off that I could hardly be about. My back was in terrible shape. It ached so severely especially at night, that I could hardly sleep and in the morning, it was stiff. If I bent over, I could hardly straighten up again. The kidney secretions were to frequent in passage and highly colored. Another of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills with such good success that I got a box at Johnson's Drug Store. They helped me and I kept on using them until cured."

CHANCE IS SEEN TO GET A CARNEGIE LIBRARY HERE

price. Officials of the company stated today that they were public spirited enough not to attempt to make a great profit on the ground if it was desired for library purposes. In order to secure the building from the Carnegie commission it is necessary for the city council to appropriate annually a sum amounting to ten per cent of the cost of the building. For instance if a $25,000 building were erected the city would have to give $2,500 annually to the library.

At present the library is costing the city about $1,800 and the limit allowed under the law for this class of taxation has not been reached. The levy could be advanced slightly, it is pointed out, so as to make the $2,500.

The lot would have to be purchased by public donations and if the library board decided to build the lot could be bought in a very short time, it is believe.

"The library building should be made a community center," said one man today in discussing the proposition. "There should be sufficient ground in the rear of the building for the parking of automobiles, or the hitching of horses. It should be a place where the country people could readily go and should be located close to the business district. The building should have a basement, and sufficient room for meetings of various organizations."

While nothing has been done, it is believed the library board will give the matter some consideration at the next meeting.

Moline Universal One Man Tractor

The Most Powerful Tractor in the World, to its Pounds of weight.

For All Field Work — Plowing, Harrowing, Planting, Cultivating, Mowing, Haying, Harvesting, Etc.

10 to 12 H. P. on the Belt for Stationary Work.

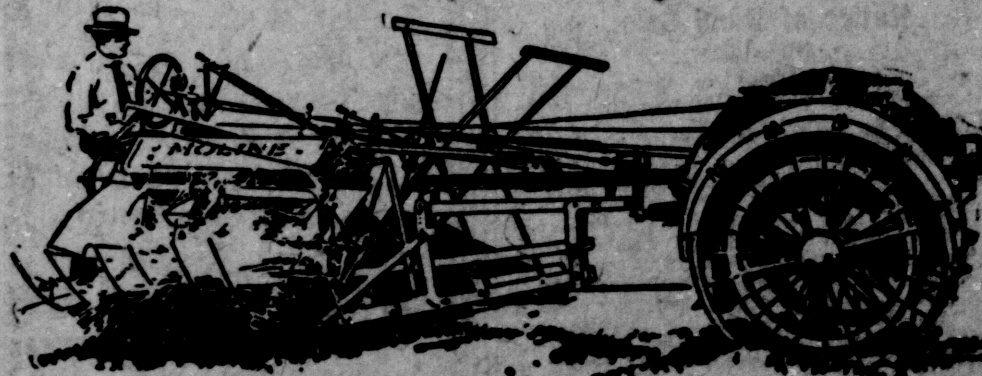

REASONS WHY THE MOLINE-UN IVERSAL IS IN A CLASS BY ITSELF

- Operator controls entire outfit from the seat of the implement—only one man required.
- Pulls the usual 5-horse load.
- Does as much work as seven horses owing to its greater speed and endurance.
- Costs less than four horses.
- Requires less care than one horse.
- Eats only when it works.
- Weights about the same as a team, and from 1500 to 2000 pounds less than any other tractor of equal power.
- Handles easier than a team.
- All the weight on the drive wheels—every ounce available for traction.
- Turns in a 16-foot circle.
- Backs as easily as it goes forward.
- Plows from four to twelve acres a day.

- One wheel runs in the furrow—practically self steering.
- Does not pack the soil.
- Works close to fences and in corners—just right for work in small fields.
- Cultivates from sixteen to twenty acres a day.
- Thirty-one inches vertical clearance.
- Can easily and quickly be attached to mower, binder, hay rake, harrow, planter, lister, grain drill, etc.
- Develops from 10 to 12 h. p. for grinding, pumping, cutting silage, sawing wood, running lighting or power plant.
- Motor is two cylinder opposed, cast en bloc with detachable heads.
- Automatic force-feed lubricator oils all parts.
- High tension magneto—no batteries.

- Hyatt roller bearings used exclusively.
- Steel cut gears.
- Governor that perfectly controls motor at all speeds from 1 to 3 miles per hour.
- Traction lugs or cleats furnished to meet all soil conditions.
- Compact, simple and efficient.
- Regularly equipped with one 16 or 18-inch sulky, two bottom 12 or 14-inch gang or two disc gang, extra heavy construction and power lift.
- Can be furnished with rear carrying truck as an extra; also attachments for disc harrow, grain drill, planter, cultivator, mower, grain binder, corn binder, etc.
- Manufactured by a company with $19,000,000 paid-up capital who will stand back of it.

DODGE EMPLOYEE TALKS FOR WIFE

James Maggart Says Helpmate Feels Better Since Taking Tanlac

Mishawaka, Ind., April 12.—Among the many Mishawaka people greatly benefited by taking Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is Mrs. James Maggart, wife of an employee of the Dodge Manufacturing Company, of this city. In making a statement for his wife so that her many friends might know the relief Tanlac gave her, he said this of the celebrated medicine.

"I recommend Tanlac because of which it did for my wife. For about a year Mrs. Maggart has suffered from stomach, liver and kidney trouble and she also had been bothered with rheumatism. Severe pains shot across her back at times. "After reading in the newspapers about Tanlac I bought a bottle for my wife to try. She's improved in every way since taking the medicine. The rheumatic pains have vanished. Her appetite is improved and she is not bothered with indigestion.

"The money I spent for Tanlac has been well spent, for my wife feels better in every respect."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, sleeplessness, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being introduced and explained in Rushville at F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store; In Arlington at Mrs. L. T. Davis's; In Carthage at J. H. McCarthy & Son; In Milroy at Barton & Sheppards—(Adv.)

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health. When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

O., where the Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Cleveland Garden Association are inaugurating an extensive home garden campaign. The commission is sending daily lessons free to more than a thousand newspapers through out the country on how to plant food gardens.

"Conserve the nation's food supply," said Carl Vrooman, a member of the commission and assistant secretary of agriculture, just before departing for a tour of the southern states to stimulate agricultural activities, that the country's food yield may be made as abundant as possible.

Mr. Vrooman will visit Atlanta, Memphis, New Orleans, Houston, Dallas and other big cities. He will talk at meetings of chambers of commerce, boards of trade, and civic bodies. His plea will be more food gardens. Transplant every back yard and every vacant lot into a food producing garden, is his gospel.

This nation wide campaign for home gardens has received the endorsement of the chairmen of 34 states committees of the National League for Woman's Service. The Federation of Women's Clubs has also gone into the campaign with the co-operation of the food garden commission. The National League For Woman's Service of which Miss Maude Wetmore and Miss Anne Morgan are the chief officers as a unit reached the conclusion at its meeting in Washington that national prosperity to be perpetuated must depend primarily upon the food producing energies of the nation.

Think twice before you speak. The words you think smart may sound silly to others.

The fellow who makes a practice of betting on horse races seldom finds other people betting on him.

The world's consumption of cotton last year was 12,250,000,000 pounds, of which we consumed one perfectly good pair of sox.

Better plant that garden and get it in shape before you are called off to the war. The wife and kids can finish it, and they may need it.

"Recently patented garters for men include pockets for carrying money," say a news item. And, presumably, when a fellow wants to treat his best girl he will have to undress before he can reach his wad. Not for us!

Elks Pledge Unflinching Support to President and Congress and Endorse Vigorous War

ALSO INVOKE THE AID OF GOD

The Elks lodge has adopted the following resolution, pledging their support to the president and congress and expressing their loyalty for their country and its flag:

Be it resolved, that, we, the members of Rushville Lodge No. 1307 B. P. O. E., in regular meeting assembled, desiring to give evidence of our loyalty to and affection for our country and its flag do here and now pledge our unflinching support to our President and Congress, and endorse a vigorous prosecution of a righteous war to the end that a new dawn of peace may witness the vindication of the sacred principles of justice and liberty, the royal heritage of freemen always and everywhere.

Be it further resolved, that, with reverent hearts we invoke, for the success and glory of our arms, the aid of Almighty God, whose watchful care and guiding hand have been manifested in every period of our national life, guarding and protecting us in time of peril and safely leading us through every conflict in the cause of human liberty.

Tabulation of Decisions of Judges in Poetry Contest Reveal Katherine Todd the Winner

"THE AWAKENING." TOPIC

Charline McNeil is Third With Clever Offering, "Eulogy"—Others Which Were Good

A tabulation of the decisions of the judges in the poetry contest, recently conducted in the "Poetry" class, shows that Katherine Todd won first place with a verse libre production entitled "The Awakening" and second place with a poem of the old school called "My Uncle Sam." The judges in the contest were Mrs. Twoomey, Miss Matheny, and Mr. Marlatt, under whose instruction the poems were written. Third place was awarded to Charline McNeil for an exceedingly clever offering entitled "Eulogy."

Any member of the "Poetry" class was allowed to submit as many manuscripts in the contest as were thought worthy of consideration. From this number, about 25 the ten best were selected and turned over to the judges for their decisions. Other poems found deserving of honorable mention were "Nature and Life" by Helen Frazee, "The Encounter" by Raymond Clarkson and "Why" by Mae Mills.

The prize winning poem is published under "Verse and Reverse" in this issue of the Rushlight.

Mr. Cullipher: (With a look of relief): Wiley, they're going to take the married men first.
Mr. Wiley: (Smilingly): Fine! But why?
Mr. Cullipher: (Blushing as he thinks of matrimony): They've had experience.

Mr. Marlatt: (In "Poetry" class): "Now you people will like "Highland Mary" because it's pathetic and children always like things that are sad.

Katherine Todd: (Viciously): Perhaps that's the reason we like you.

College Debate Is to Be Held

Earlham and I. U. Students Will Discuss "Appointment of Judges of State Courts"

AUDIENCE WILL BE JUDGES

Representatives of Indiana University and Earlham college discuss the "Appointment of Judges of State Courts" in a debate to be held at the Annex Auditorium on the evening of Monday, April 23. Lloyd Sheppard and Harris McGuire of the state institution will present the affirmative side of the question while John Vesey and Edwin Eley of Quaker school will attack the proposition.

The debate is secured through the Indiana University Extension Bureau and is the second of a series of intercollegiate discussions to be held in Rushville this year. The question is timely and if the speakers are as effective as those who participated in the recent argument between DePauw and Earlham the affair should prove attractive to all persons interested in political reform.

Each speaker will be allowed ten minutes for his constructive speech and four minutes for rebuttal.

Professor Stewart will preside and the audience, acting as judges, will be asked to render a decision at the conclusion of the speeches.

Students Show Their Loyalty

Graham School Gives Patriotic Program Thursday Morning, April 5, Made Attractive by Musc.

ORCHESTRA AIDS VERY MUCH

Demonstration Suggested by Prof. Stewart, Who Thought it Proper to Display Patriotism.

(Katherine Todd.)

The students of the Graham building took the opportunity to display their loyalty to their country Thursday morning, April 5, when the Junior and Senior high schools joined in a patriotic program given in the lower assembly room.

The first number was "America" sung by the entire assembly. This was followed by the "Stars and Stripes Forever" by the Junior high school. The program closed with the natural hymn, "The Star Spangled Banner" in which all took part. The music was made more attractive by the high school orchestra which accompanied the singers throughout the exercises.

The demonstration was suggested by Professor Stewart, who stated that he thought it only proper that the students should show their patriotism during the present national crisis.

Rushlightning

Why?

Fair pledges has the German made—

Why does he break them so?
Your answer must be this:
"The Germans are of fighting blood. They care not who's their foe; They fight as long as they can go. Not yet have they a reason why So many men must fight And die."

"Where sooner than here, where earlier than within the walls that now surround us, was patriotism formed?" were the words of Daniel Webster. This should be the sentiment of every American citizen at this trying crisis in the affairs of our nation.

Love of one's country which tends to develop a desire to obey, that country's laws, support and defend its existence, rights and institutions, and promote its welfare, that is patriotism.

An appeal is being made to every citizen of the United States to show to the best of their ability a loyal love for their country. Answer that call, join the army of patriots and make America proud of her people. Honor "Old Glory" and the freedom which she symbolizes, and make her wave over a prosperous, a peaceful, and a patriotic nation.

If I had a hold of the Kaiser I'd give him a good paralyzer.
I'd really get rough
And give him enough
To make him a little bit wiser.

Just Justice.

Frequently, after report cards are given out, pupils are heard making the remark that they think a certain teacher was unfair because he or she gave some one else, who was doing no better work than they, a higher grade. At first it may seem that a sense of injustice prompts this feeling. On second thought, however, it does not seem that a student is able to consider the merits of his fellow student as well as those of the teacher. So, if, instead of being jealous of his associate's grade, the scholar would endeavor to raise his own and would leave the judgment of his neighbor to one who is capable of real discrimination, he might find himself far better satisfied with his record at the end of the next six weeks period. This is nothing more than justice to all concerned and is certainly worth a trial.

Prize Poem

THE AWAKENING.

(Katherine Todd.)

The sun, with dragon breath of fire,
Has vanished night
And now
With softened light
And gentle fingers
Touches the fair brow
Of a beauteous maiden, sleeping.
But see—a stir, a smile—
The heavy lashes shading her cheeks
Unclose
And drowsily disclose
Two eyes, twin violets,
Still bright with dreams
Descent from heaven's own light.
With languid grace
She lifts a perfect hand
And with a dainty motion
Throws back the long white coverlet.
Then rising regally
She lifts her voice
In gentle query.
The howling winds are calm;
The world is still.
Fully awakened
She trips out to the sun
And greets a sleeping world.
Her eyes meet deathlike slumber.
The earth lies in its shroud,

So white and cold and unresponsive
That she is startled into fear
And cries.
In sorrowful lament for nature's fate
Her sobs float sadly to the skies.
But wait—
Not even yet is she too late;
For see, the soothing pathos of that voice
Has melted forests into tears;
The birds attracted by the sound
Comes fleeting back and flowers
Awaken suddenly from sleep,
And drink the showers
That well from weeping skies.
All overwhelmed with joy
The maiden threads her airy way
Among awakening trees;
In her small footprints
Flowers spring,
While green buds swell and burst
Beneath her finger's touch.
At last surrounded by the bowers
Of greenery and decked
With myriad flowers
She stands triumphant,
Queen of Nature's realm,
A wild free woodland thing—
Beauty incarnate,
Divine undying Spring.

Prize Story

The Price.

Charline McNeil.

The old man lay very still. Slowly his lips formed a single word, "Marie."

The young girl standing by the window came softly to his bedside. "You called, father?"

The old man nodded assent. "Sit near me, child, where I can hold your hand. I have something to tell you."

"You love France, Marie?"

"You know, father, how much."

The old man continued, "In France the name Andres has always stood for bravery, for loyalty, and for patriotism. It has never been said that an Andres turned traitor or coward."

A convulsion shook the aged form. The girl rose with a little cry of sympathy and bent over him solicitously. "Your shoulder, father?"

"No matter, child, it will not be for long and I must finish before it is too late." A pause and the voice began again. "My invention, the invention that is to save France, is complete, the highest explosive that the world has ever known. How the enemy gained news of it I do not know, but that man last night, Marie, that man was a German. He was desperate or he would not have shot me. Tonight they will attempt to steal the invention again. I feel it, and I will not be here to protect it." Suddenly the form stiffened. "Marie, that invention must reach the French government tonight, and you, the last of the Andres must take it."

The final effort evidently weakened him for he was silent for a long time. Then he turned and with loving eyes scanned his daughter's face. "There is no one else, Marie? No one you love more than France?"

"Father, I-I—" The girl faltered.

"I understand. Who is he?"

"I met him at Madame Defarge's, father, Boyd King, an American war correspondent, you know," she hastened to explain. "He is a friend of Louis Defarge. They met in the ranks where they took a great fancy to each other. King was going through France; so Louis wrote to Madame Defarge, asking that she entertain Boyd while a slight wound was healing."

"Father, I love him! I love him—as my mother loved you."

The old man had eagerly raised himself and now interrupted her. "And yet, Marie—?" It was a prayer. It was a command.

"And yet I love France more," finished the girl.

Monsieur Andres seemed to be living for that answer. With it he sank slowly back on his pillow, and with his eyes fastened on the girl's face in complete trust, he died.

The girl broke into a passion of uncontrollable grief, but suddenly stopped with a convulsive sob. "The fate of France! My France! rests with me!" kept echoing in her brain. "And I am helpless." She walked listlessly to the window and looked out. The sky was already darkening yet she could deserv a figure coming up the path. It gave her a sudden inspiration. Boyd! Boyd! Of course he was the one to whom she might turn.

Marie met him as he entered the door. "Boyd! Father is dead and I must save France. You and I together, Boyd. You will help me?" Seeing his look of incomprehension she briefly outlined her plan. "You told me you were an aeronaut. That was what decided me. Father has an aeroplane, one of his numerous inventions. You will not fail me?"

The young man, standing with his eyes fastened to the floor, suddenly raised his head. "And if I do this, Marie. If I risk my life in your service, you—?" He paused questioningly.

"I will pay the price," the girl finished half-laughingly, half-tearfully.

"Whatever I ask?"

"Whatever you ask." Her faith was absolute. Her love was supreme.

"Tonight at seven then." And they parted.

That night a great black bird slowly rose and flew over France. In it were two figures. A girl, white, tense, tightly clutching a bundle, and a young man at the wheel. They rode in silence for several hours. Then the bird slowly dropped and came to rest. The figures alighted.

"You are sure this is the right place?"

"Absolutely!" The reply came gruffly.

A sentry challenged them but permitted them to pass at a word from King. The night was very dark and the girl caught the gleam of white tents. The man led her to a large white splotch in the darkness and together they entered. With a startled cry the girl beheld the officer before her.

"My dear Miss Andres," came the voice of her companion, "allow me to present to you General Krauss, the brains of the German army. I am Von Wildenburg, the German detective, of whom you have probably heard. For the slight

Discloses the Value Poetry

"Bill" Irwin, Former Wabash College Baseball Pitcher, Speaks Before Senior English Class.

ALSO EMBRYO JOURNALISTS

Shows Influence Poetry Has Had on His Life and May Have on the Characters of Others.

With a discussion of "The Practical Value of Poetry," striking for its originality of ideas and personality in presentation, "Bill" Irwin, ex-baseball pitcher for Wabash college and more recently principal of the Muskogee schools in Oklahoma, talked to the Senior English class at the regular recitation hour last Friday afternoon. A speech with such "punch" from a man of such "pep" made a deep impression upon the "live-wire" students who were privileged to hear it.

After a clever self-introduction, Mr. Irwin launched into an explanation of the tremendous influence of poetry upon his own character and life. Using quotations from Milton's "L'Allegro," "Il Penseroso," and "Comus," and Burns' "To a Mouse," "To a Louse," and "A Man's a Man for a That," he showed how these productions had brought him to a real appreciation of aesthetic and spiritual values. He then proved conclusively that the new vision so acquired had been of inestimable benefit to him in his practical works as a traveling salesman for the Alyn and Bacon Book Company. He also cited examples of other people who had secured signal profit from a study of poetry and concluded by urging the pupils to secure character development and practical efficiency in the same way.

Earlier in the day Mr. Irwin talked to the students in journalism on the value of directness in speech and writing. His remarks were timely and met with well-deserved applause.

service I have just performed for you tonight I ask this price. That you surrender that very dangerous and very precious package to General Krauss, my superior officer."

There was a deep silence, broken only by the measured tread of a sentry. The girl grew tense.

"Monsieur Von Wildenburg, I pay the price. Not to you do I pay it, but to France. And the price is my life." A tiny revolver glittered in her hand. A bullet pierced the package as it dropped. There was a tremendous explosion.

Where the tents had gleamed white there was only a void. It was very dark and the awful silence was not even broken by the measured tread of a sentry.

Talks About Famous Abbey

J. V. Masters Gives Illustrated Lecture Regarding Cathedral to Senior High School

I. U. PROVIDES THE VIEWS

Shows How Various Additions Have Marred the Beauty of the Structure of Westminster

Westminster Abbey was temporarily transferred to the Annex Auditorium yesterday morning when Professor J. V. Masters gave an illustrated lecture on the famous cathedral to the members of the Senior high school. The clear and interesting explanations of the speaker, supplemented by stereopticon views secured from Indiana University, made a vivid impression upon the students and convinced them that the beauties of the coronation church had not been exaggerated in either history nor literature.

"Westminster Abbey is admirable in design but absurd in detail" said Mr. Masters in describing the exterior of England's greatest cathedral. He then proceeded to show how various additions had marred the unity of the structure although each of the various parts was in itself a model of architectural symmetry and beauty. He next described the interior of the church and told many interesting anecdotes concerning its history and the lives of various celebrities either buried or commemorated there. Especially interesting were the discussions and pictures of the tomb of Henry V, the chapel of Henry VII, the sepulchre of Edward the Confessor, and "Poet's Corner," where a bust of Longfellow evidences England's esteem for America's best-beloved poet. In conclusion he quoted statistics to show the incredible height of the nave which is considered the most majestic corridor in all the realm of architecture.

Mr. Masters delivered his lecture with his usual perfect enunciation and with a poise which marked him as a practiced speaker. The slides were unusually good and the success of the whole entertainment augurs well for other lectures of a similar nature but on different subjects.

Girl Winner In Speed Test

Gertrude Wilkinson Will Receive Certificate of Efficiency For Record on Typewriter.

ANY NUMBER MAY WIN IT

(Katherine Todd.)

In a test of speed held among the pupils of the typewriting class of the local high school, Gertrude Wilkinson has been declared winner and will receive as a reward a certificate of efficiency.

This certificate is offered by the Remington Typewriter Company to any student in school, who writes, for the space of five consecutive minutes, twenty-five words a minute with not more than five errors. Any number of students from the same class may receive the prize provided they qualify according to the regulations of the contest.

The present typewriting class of which Miss Wilkinson is a member is under the supervision of Mrs. Twoomey, director of the commercial department.

Report cards for the last six weeks period will be given to the students at their regular recitations on Monday. The usual system will be followed in the entry of grades and check marks.

terday afternoon, at her home in West Ninth street. Needle work furnished a splendid pastime for the guests. A dainty repast was served by the hostess.

Twelve members of the Yomo club enjoyed a delightful pitch-in supper last night with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hosier. The center decoration of the table was a large bunch of carnations and ferns, which was presented to the hostess by the club members. Engrossing games of cards furnished entertainments for the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kennedy were pleasantly surprised last evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Lon Kennedy and Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMillin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Tompkins and son John K., and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kennedy and son, John, went to their home for a social evening, in celebration of their first wedding anniversary. After a splendid pitch-in supper was served, cards formed a pleasant pastime.

The home of Mrs. O. C. Brann presented a charming appearance when she entertained twelve members of the Wednesday afternoon club and two guests, Mrs. Cowger of Indianapolis, and Mrs. George Helm. Potted plants and white carnations brightened the rooms of the home. During the business meeting, there was the annual election of officers, as follows: president, Mrs.

Mrs. Fred Caldwell was a charming hostess to the members of the Social Dozen yesterday afternoon. After a pleasant afternoon over needle work, splendid refreshments were served to the twelve guests.

The members of the Pirate bridge club were royally entertained by Mrs. R. L. Tompkins yesterday afternoon. After the intensely interesting rounds at cards, the guests were served with a dainty luncheon.

Mrs. Louis Mauzy was a delightful hostess to the members of her Bridge club yesterday afternoon, at her home in North Harrison street. After the close of the card games, the hostess served a splendid two course luncheon.

Twenty-five were present at the regular meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church, yesterday, when it met with Mrs. D. D. VanOsdol, in West Third street. Talks were given by Miss Frazee and Miss Macey. The members of the second division of the society brought the provisions for the market, the sale of which was a great success. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

The Ladies Aid society of the Catholic church held its regular meeting with Mrs. M. M. Coyne yesterday afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Joe Caldwell, with fourteen members in attendance. During the business meeting, they decided to hold a bazaar, the exact date not being decided upon. The guests also worked on a quilt, which will be sold at the bazaar.

Films at Graham Annex Reveal Dayton, Ohio, Has Been Doing What is Attempted Here

PICTURES ARE EXPLAINED

"The Troubles of a Storekeeper" is Picture Which Teaches Business Men a Lesson

The civic improvement film shown at the Graham Annex auditorium last evening under the auspices of the Retail Merchants association, was very timely and appropriate because it showed that the very things which are being attempted now to prevent further increases in the high cost of living because of the war, can be accomplished because Dayton, Ohio, has been doing it for a long time. There was no admission fee. Approximately three hundred persons saw this community betterment film as well as "The Troubles of a Storekeeper and How to Correct Them."

The story of how Dayton, Ohio, became the city of flower and vegetable gardens was shown with motion pictures and stereopticon views. The pictures were explained by an expert from the plant of The National Cash Register company.

This lecture was secured by the association—for the express purpose of creating great activity in this community along garden lines. They are the only pictures of the kind now being shown, and in themselves, are a real novelty.

About a year ago, the cash register company decided to carry the story of "The Troubles of a Storekeeper" to the people throughout the world by means of motion pictures, and arrangements were immediately made to have this film taken. Expert actors were put to work, and, after many months of hard work and preparation, the expenditure of some $30,000.00, the film has finally been produced, and is being shown throughout the country. It is received with enthusiasm everywhere. Thousands have seen it and have taken the opportunity to see it again. There is a lesson in every passing picture, and a splendid story is carried throughout the whole film.

The film, though but a few months old, has been shown before associations of merchants and business men from coast to coast and from the Canadian line to New Orleans. It tells the story of Mr. White, an unsuccessful grocery storekeeper. As the scenes of the picture pass, the reasons he is unsuccessful become clear.

He occupies an old style building. High windows prevent proper display of goods. His sidewalk is dirty and the interior of his store disorganized. He carries good goods but lacks system. Service is slow, mistakes occur, sales people are indifferent. Mr. White's own time is too taken up with details to meet his patrons and attend to the bigger things of the business. Of course he loses customers and falls behind in payments to his banker and wholesaler.

He is discouraged and almost bankrupt when through the agency of an outsider he is persuaded to right about face. He cleans up his store and installs system. From that day forward his losses are turned into profits.

The right front wheel was also smashed and the radiator was damaged. The truck did not turn over.

EXPLAINS WHAT THE I. & C. WILL DO IN LOOP ORDINANCE

that is to operate the loop can grant to interurban electric railways the right to use the loop on "proportionally equal terms, said terms to be determined on the basis of the total cost of operation and a reasonable return upon the investments." This ordinance and contract now under consideration says that this must be granted by the Cincinnati Traction Company. It moreover says that the Cincinnati Traction Company much also permit the use of its surface tracks to allow interurban cars to go over them so as to enter the rapid transit loop. It is said that the Cincinnati Traction will have absolute control over the terms and conditions, which shall govern the use of the loop or entrance to it by interurbans.

This is not the fact. If the interurbans do not like the terms proposed by the Cincinnati Traction Company and the Rapid Transit Commission fixes the terms itself, and the Cincinnati Traction Company can not effect this decision unless those terms are in conflict with the lease, and of course, the Rapid Transit Commission will never grant terms that were in conflict with the lease. Moreover, the ordinance also provides that if any existing contracts with the interurbans want canceled they should be cancelled at once upon the fixing of these new terms by the Rapid Transit Commission, so that whether the Cincinnati Traction Company has been fair or not in the making of these former contracts they will all thus be wiped out.

The company which I represent owns and operates one hundred miles of interurban road out of Indianapolis, one line by way of Shelbyville to Greenville, the other by way of Rushville to Connersville. We propose to leave the last-named line at Rushville, forty-one miles from Indianapolis, and run direct to Cincinnati by way of Metamora, Brookville, Harrison, O., and thence to Cincinnati by way of the Cincinnati & Westwood Railway to Queen City avenue. From that point we will have to go 3,000 feet on Queen City avenue to reach the loop, thence down town to the heart of the city. The distance by our road will be 111 miles from the terminal in Indianapolis to the terminal in Cincinnati and will connect two great cities by a road that can run its own cars in three hours from one city to the other. If there were city tracks on Queen City avenue this ordinance would give us the right to run on the city tracks to the loop, and so in like conditions to any other interurbans desiring to reach the loop.

There is nothing in the ordinance in any way tampering with the interurban. It does not finance our companies, of course. We must finance them ourselves, but it does give a quick entrance to the heart of Cincinnati and will enable us to handle our passengers with entire satisfaction.

I am pleased with one thing in the situation in Cincinnati. You have for a long time been wanting interurbans and asking for them, and now you have set out to get them.

Do You Know How to Select a Rug?

In the purchase of a rug few people have the scientific knowledge of rug making necessary in order to choose the best. "Three Shot," "Frame" and "Wire" are terms unknown to the average rug purchaser, and indeed to many salesmen. Formerly one must rely on the salesman's judgment; now this trade-mark woven in the back of every yard of the rug is your guarantee of surpassing quality.

That's Why we Sell Whittall Rugs

We know, in common with many satisfied owners, that no matter how much we claim for them our statements will be borne out by the rugs themselves.

REAL ESTATE DEAL INVOLVING $50,000 IS CLOSED HERE TODAY

Earl Reeve Disposes of Property of
Late J. B. Reeve to Peoples
Loan and Trust Co.

MAIN TURN IS SOLD TO OTHERS

Ed Tyner Buys Room Tailoring
Business is Located in and R.
H. Jones Casady Store Room

One of the largest real estate deals in the history of the city was consummated today when the Peoples Loan and Trust company took over all of the property owned by Earl Reeve of Chicago. The property was originally owned by the late Capt. J. B. Reeve and Mrs. Alice Reeve and includes two valuable business pieces, several residence properties, the Reeve homestead in North Main street and thirteen acres of land just east of the city.

Mr. Reeve, in closing out his Rushville property, disposed of all the real estate. The transaction involved a total of almost $50,000. The Peoples Loan and Trust company in turn has disposed of several pieces of the property and deals are pending for the disposal of additional parts. While no figures were given out, it was stated that the entire property brought between $45,000 and $50,000.

Roy H. Jones of the R. H. Jones Company, purchased the building occupied by the R. H. Casady dry goods store from the Peoples Loan and Trust company. No consideration was made public. This is the room originally occupied by the J. B. Reeve dry goods store years ago and has always been used for a dry goods store. The room will continue to be occupied by the Casady store.

Edward Tyner bought the room in which his tailoring business is now located.

The thirteen acres of land east of the city has been purchased by Lon Stewart. Other property of the Reeve estate includes the homestead in North Main street, two rental properties in West Third street, two double houses in North Morgan street, and a lot in West Eighth street.

Several other deals for the balance of this property are said to be pending and the necessary papers are being drawn at this time.

In all, nine separate pieces of real estate were included in the transaction. Actual figures on some of the deals could not be obtained because the deeds and other legal papers have not been completed. This was true in regard to the purchase of the homestead in North Main street.

Chance Seen to Get a Library

Site in Third Street, Which Belonged to Reeve Estate, Considered by Library Board

LOGICAL TIME RIGHT NOW

With the disposal of the Reeve property today it was brought to light that one of the properties was being seriously considered as a site for a Carnegie library building. The property under consideration is that in West Third street, just west of the D. D. VanOsdol home and within one-half square of the traction station.

The library board, it was stated, has been considering a proposition for a library building and this site is now under consideration. At present the proposed site is occupied by a double house on the alley and another frame dwelling. The lot is 82½ feet wide and 165 feet long. Nothing definite has been done, but now is considered the logical time for action by many citizens.

This property is now owned by the Peoples Loan and Trust company, having been taken over today from Earl Reeve. The present library facilities are becoming too small and something will have to be done in a short time, one member of the library board pointed out today. The library has enjoyed phenomenal growth. New books are constantly being added and the list of patrons grows each month. The library is not self-sustaining, or rather is being maintained by the city with a tax levy for this purpose.

Several sites for the proposed library have been considered. The Reeve property, while not a corner lot, can be secured at a nominal

RUNAWAY HORSE BREAKS ITS NECK

One of Team Strikes Electric Light Pole When Trying to Make Turn Into An Alley

BELONGED TO STICK BEBOUT

Silverton (Stick) Bebout lost a valuable horse this morning in a runaway accident. The horse, one of a fine team, sustained a broken neck when it fell as it was attempting to turn in the alley by the George Wingerter home in West Second street, striking an electric light pole. The team started running near the George Smalley livery barn in East Second street. They raced like mad through the business district and barely missed hitting several other rigs and persons.

They continued to run, heading towards the barn. The team was going too fast to make the turn into the alley and both slipped on the brick streets. The horse struck the pole a hard blow and resulted in instant death. The other animal was not hurt. Bebout had owned the team only a short time and valued the horse very highly.

Charles L. Henry Explains to Audience in Cincinnati How Extension Will Reach City.

TO BE RUN FROM RUSHVILLE

Will Enter Over C. & W. Railway to Queen City Avenue and Thence to Loop and Terminal

President Charles L. Henry made plain in an address in Cincinnati last night just what the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction company will do if the loop is built. He spoke in favor of the loop ordinance and explained how the extension would be made from Rushville and what course it would take when it reached the city.

The meeting was well attended. Mr. Henry, in supporting the proposed lease ordinance, said in part:

The question of the voters of Cincinnati next Tuesday is not whether or not they will build a rapid transit and interurban loop. That was determined upon and $60,000,000 bonds voted for it. The law back of the lease made for the canal to the city and the lease made in accordance with that law requires that when a contract is made for the operation of the rapid transit loop that contract must be approved by the popular vote of the city. The Council has made such a contract and embodied in it an ordinance and a vote of the citizens of Cincinnati next Tuesday will be whether or not they will approve that contract.

I shall not undertake to discuss in any way the general provisions of this ordinance and contract other than in so far as they apply to and affect interurbans.

It has been argued by various people that the contract will not permit interurbans to enter the city and will practically deprive them of the use of the loop. This claim is not founded on fact.

The act of the Legislature and the lease made in conformity with it both require that whenever a contract is made such as this for the operation of the loop the company

CAPTURE ANOTHER MILE GERMAN LINES

British Armies Continue Smashing Tactics and Threaten Pivotal Point at Arras

ALSO DOMINATE THE AIR

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

With the British Armies, April 13.—Another mile of the Hindenberg lines was captured by the British forces today. Possession of the new points by General Haig's troops more and more threatened the pivotal point of the German lines around Arras.

Desperation stalks between the German lines. Prisoners of war are being used to dig trenches in order to relieve all Germans for fighting. Men employed in non-military work such as transport drivers, bandmen and chauffeurs were pressed into fighting service.

Reinforcements have been asked for. Repeated and fruitless efforts were being made by German airmen to fly over British lines and learn where the next British blows would be made. The British dominate the air. Germans were swept from the air.

WORD ADDITIONAL IS MISCONSTRUED

$5,000 Needed to Build Factory For Modern Appliance Co., Specified in Report

NO EXTRA IS BEING ADDED

What Will be Board of Directors Organizes as Board of Agents and Elects Officers

The word "additional," as used in a story in the Daily Republican last night regarding $5,000 more being needed to buy a site and erect a building for the Modern Appliance Co., of Chicago, which will be located here, was misconstrued by some people.

It will be recalled that when negotiations for the location of the concern were first started it was stated that it could be brought here if $10,000 worth of stock were sold. This did not take in to account providing a building for the factory. It should also be remembered that S. L. Trabue and R. L. Tompkins, who investigated the factory at Chicago, in their written report, said that at least $15,000 and possibly $20,000 should be subscribed, in order to put the factory on a good working basis.

When $10,000 was subscribed, it was said that there would be no doubt about bringing the factory and then the workers started out to get $5,000 more. It is not "additional" in the sense some construed the word, but is the remainder of the sum originally fixed to be raised. There is no suitable place to place the factory, and besides, stockholders want to put the concern in its own building so it will have every chance to succeed.

What will be the board of directors of the concern when it is incorporated, has organized as the board of agents to be in charge of the funds being subscribed and to make other arrangements regarding location. The board has elected Erling Falk of Chicago, president; R. L. Tompkins of this city, vice-president; J. Vincent Murray of Chicago, secretary; Will Dill of this city, treasurer. President Falk returned to Chicago today.

THREE DIRECTORS WILL BE ELECTED

Annual Meeting of Stockholders of Rushville Co-Operative Telephone Company at 7:30

FINANCIAL REPORT READY

Three directors to serve for a period of two years will be elected at the annual stockholders meeting tonight of the Rushville Co-Operative Telephone company. The directors whose time has expired are John H. Frazee, Robert L. Tompkins and Frank Capp. Indications today were that all three would be re-elected as there appeared to be no opposition.

Chief interest in the meeting centers on the annual financial statement of the company. The report will show that the company prospered during the year. The indebtedness of the company, it was understood, was reduced $10,000 during the year and from all indications the remaining indebtedness of $9,000 will be wiped out before the end of the next fiscal year. The meeting will be held in the assembly room of the court house starting at seven-thirty o'clock.

CONFERENCE WITH GOODRICH

BULLETIN

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—Special session of legislature will not be called now or in near future, Governor Goodrich announced late this afternoon.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 13.—That a special session of the legislature will be called shortly was considered practically certain this afternoon when legislative leaders of both parties went into conference with Governor Goodrich to discuss the question.

All five men called by the governor for the conference were believed to favor holding the special session as soon as possible.

The governor outlined his plans to the legislators, suggesting that it be confined to financial matters. This met with favor.

Sentiment among those present was that the legislature should appropriate from one million to two million dollars to prosecute the war. If any of the amount remained after the war this would be turned back to the state treasury.

"Since we are now in the war, it is up to Indiana to make it a victory," said Senator Simmons. "When the legislature was in session we had no idea war was so close at hand and of course made no preparation for it."

"I certainly believe the legislature should do its work in the least time possible and confine its activity to the questions which will be outlined by the governor."

PROCLAMATION TO BE ENFORCED HERE

Chief of Police Gets Orders to Watch for Violations of Orders Regarding Aliens

NO WEAPONS ARE ALLOWED

Chief of Police Yakey today received orders from Washington to enforce President Wilson's proclamation regarding the taking charge of all firearms and other articles which an alien enemy is not permitted to possess during the war. Similar orders were sent to every police department in the country. As far as is known there are no alien enemies here but the police will keep a close watch for any violation of the proclamation.

Under the orders from Washington alien enemies have no right to have in their possession any firearms, weapons or implement of war, or component part thereof, ammunition, maxim or other silencer, bomb, or explosive, or material used in the manufacture of explosives; any aircraft or wireless apparatus, or any form of signaling device or any form of cipher code, or papers, document, or book written or printed in cipher or in which there may be invisible writing.

President Issues Proclamation Creating Defensive Areas at All Important Harbors

CONGRESS DEBATES FINANCE

Voluntary Restrictions of Liquor Traffic by Reducing Grain Consumption Proposed

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, April 13.—While congress debated the seven billion dollar bond issue bill today all executive departments of the government turned their attention to protecting American shores from surprise attacks and safeguard food shipments to the entente.

President Wilson issued a proclamation creating a defensive area at all important harbors of the United States within a radius of from two to ten miles in which no ships can penetrate except at certain times and under certain conditions.

Means of bringing enemy ships into food service were discussed by Secretaries McAdoo and Redfield. Three plans present themselves as follows: seize the vessels of all enemies; requisition of the vessels by eminent domain, or allow Americans to purchase the vessels.

House debate on the bond issue bill developed the expressions of fear that Wall street would gain control of the issue. Representative Mason of Illinois urged popular subscription to the bonds.

A suggestion that money loaned to the allies should only be spent in the United States was squelched. Many members want the bill to stipulate that all money be loaned only to countries at war with Germany.

Voluntary restrictions of liquor manufacture during the war were proposed to the agricultural department by representatives of the largest distilleries of the country. They presented a plan to cut down the amount of grain used in the manufacture of alcohol fifteen million bushels a year. They suggested that a special tax be imposed on material used in the manufacture of liquor, which would have a tendency to cut down the supply.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

Going It Too Hard?

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for much kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Frank McFarland, 830 W. Tenth street, Rushville, says: "Last winter my kidneys began to get weak and in a short time I was so bad off that I could hardly be about. My back was in terrible shape. It ached so severely especially at night, that I could hardly sleep and in the morning, it was stiff. If I bent over, I could hardly straighten up again. The kidney secretions were so frequent in passage and highly colored. Another of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills with such good success that I got a box at Johnson's Drug Store. They helped me and I kept on using them until cured."

CHANCE IS SEEN TO GET A CARNEGIE LIBRARY HERE

Officials of the company stated today that they were public spirited enough not to attempt to make a great profit on the ground if it was desired for library purposes. In order to secure the building from the Carnegie commission it is necessary for the city council to appropriate annually a sum amounting to ten per cent of the cost of the building. For instance if a $25,000 building were erected the city would have to give $2,500 annually to the library.

At present the library is costing the city about $1,800 and the limit allowed under the law for this class of taxation has not been reached. The levy could be advanced slightly, it is pointed out, so as to make the $2,500.

The lot would have to be purchased by public donations and if the library board decided to build the lot could be bought in a very short time, it is believed.

"The library building should be made a community center," said one man today in discussing the proposition. "There should be sufficient ground in the rear of the building for the parking of automobiles, or the hitching of horses. It should be a place where the country people could readily go and should be located close to the business district. The building should have a basement, and sufficient room for meetings of various organizations."

While nothing has been done, it is believed the library board will give the matter some consideration at the next meeting.

Moline Universal One Man Tractor

The Most Powerful Tractor in the World, to its Pounds of weight.

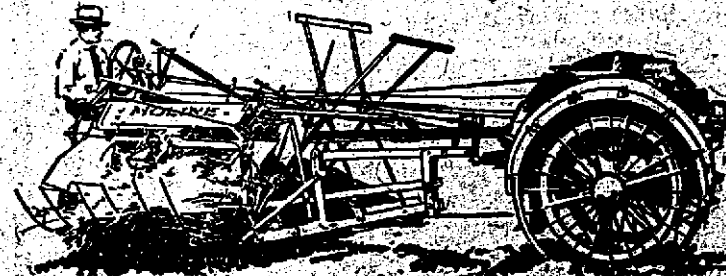

For All Field Work — Plowing, Harrowing, Planting, Cultivating, Mowing, Haying, Harvesting, Etc.

10 to 12 H. P. on the Belt for Stationary Work.

REASONS WHY THE MOLINE-UN IVERSAL IS IN A CLASS BY ITSELF

- Operator controls entire outfit from the seat of the implement—only one man required.
- Pulls the usual 5-horse load.
- Does as much work as seven horses owing to its greater speed and endurance.
- Costs less than four horses.
- Requires less care than one horse.
- Eats only when it works.
- Weights about the same as a team, and from 1,500 to 2,000 pounds less than any other tractor of equal power.
- Handles easier than a team.
- All the weight on the drive wheels—every ounce available for traction.
- Turns in a 16-foot circle.
- Backs as easily as it goes forward.
- Plows from four to twelve acres a day.
- One wheel runs in the furrow—practically self-steering.
- Does not pack the soil.
- Works close to fences and in corners—just right for work in small fields.
- Cultivates from sixteen to twenty acres a day.
- Thirty-one inches vertical clearance.
- Can easily and quickly be attached to mower, binder, hay rake, harrow, planter, lister, grain drill, etc.
- Develops from 10 to 12 h. p. for grinding, pumping, cutting silage, sawing wood, running lighting or power plant.
- Motor is two cylinder opposed, cast en bloc with detachable heads.
- Automatic force-feed lubricator oils all parts.
- High tension magneto—no batteries.
- Hyatt roller bearings used exclusively.
- Steel cut gears.
- Governor that perfectly controls motor at all speeds from 1 to 3 miles per hour.
- Traction lugs or cleats furnished to meet all soil conditions.
- Compact, simple and efficient.

Tabulation of Decisions of Judges in Poetry Contest Reveal Katherine Todd the Winner

"THE AWAKENING," TOPIC

Charline McNeil is Third With Clever Offering, "Eulogy"—Others Which Were Good

A tabulation of the decisions of the judges in the poetry contest, recently conducted in the "Poetry" class, shows that Katherine Todd won first place with a verse libre production entitled "The Awakening" and second place with a poem of the old school called "My Uncle Sam." The judges in the contest were Mrs. Twoomey, Miss Matheny, and Mr. Marlatt, under whose instruction the poems were written. Third place was awarded to Charline McNeil for an exceedingly clever offering entitled "Eulogy."

Any member of the "Poetry" class was allowed to submit as many manuscripts in the contest as were thought worthy of consideration. From this number, about 25 the ten best were selected and turned over to the judges for their decisions. Other poems found deserving of honorable mention were "Nature and Life" by Helen Frazee, "The Encounter" by Raymond Clarkson and "Why" by Mae Mills.

The prize winning poem is published under "Verse and Reverse" in this issue of the Rushlight.

Mr. Wiley: (Smilingly): Fine! But why?

Mr. Cullipher: (Blushing as he thinks of matrimony): They've had experience.

Mr. Marlatt: (In "Poetry" class): "Now you people will like 'Highland Mary' because it's pathetic and children always like things that are sad."

Katherine Todd: (Viciously): Perhaps that's the reason we like you.

Students Show Their Loyalty

Graham School Gives Patriotic Program Thursday Morning, April 5, Made Attractive by Music.

Demonstration Suggested by Prof. Stewart, Who Thought It Proper to Display Patriotism.

(Katherine Todd.)

The students of the Graham building took the opportunity to display their loyalty to their country Thursday morning, April 5, when the Junior and Senior high schools joined in a patriotic program given in the lower assembly room.

The first number was "America" sung by the entire assembly. This was followed by the "Stars and Stripes Forever" by the Junior high school. The program closed with the natural hymn, "The Star Spangled Banner" in which all took part.

The music was made more attractive by the high school orchestra which accompanied the singers throughout the exercises.

The demonstration was suggested by Professor Stewart, who stated that he thought it only proper that the students should show their patriotism during the present national crisis.

Prize Poem

THE AWAKENING.
(Katherine Todd.)

The sun, with dragon breath of fire,
Has vanished night
And now
With softened light
And gentle fingers
Touches the fair brow
Of a beauteous maiden, sleeping.
But see—a stir, a smile—
The heavy lashes shading her cheeks
Unclose
And drowsily disclose
Two eyes, twin violets,
Still bright with dreams
Descend from heaven's own light.
With languid grace
She lifts a perfect hand
And with a dainty motion
Throws back the long white coverlet.
Then rising regally
She lifts her voice
In gentle query.
The howling winds are calm;
The world is still.
Fully awakened
She trips out to the sun
And greets a sleeping world.
Her eyes meet deathlike slumber.
The earth lies in its shroud.

Prize Story

The Price.
Charline McNeil.

The old man lay very still. Slowly his lips formed a single word, "Marie."

The young girl standing by the window came softly to his bedside. "You called, father?"

The old man nodded assent. "Sit near me, child, where I can hold your hand. I have something to tell you."

"You love France, Marie?"

"You know, father, how much."

The old man continued, "In France the name Andres has always stood for bravery, for loyalty, and for patriotism. It has never been said that an Andres turned traitor or coward."

A convulsion shook the aged form. The girl rose with a little cry of sympathy and bent over him solicitously. "Your shoulder, father?"

"No matter, child, it will not be for long and I must finish before it is too late." A pause and the voice began again. "My invention, the invention that is to save France, is complete, the highest explosive that the world has ever known. How the enemy gained news of it I do not know, but that man last night, Marie, that man was a German. He was desperate or he would not have shot me. Tonight they will attempt to steal the invention again. I feel it, and I will not be here to protect it."

Suddenly the form stiffened. "Marie, that invention must reach the French government tonight, and you, the last of the Andres must take it."

The final effort evidently weakened him for he was silent for a long time. Then he turned and with loving eyes scanned his daughter's face. "There is no one else, Marie? No one you love more than France?"

"Father, I-I." The girl faltered.

"I understand. Who is he?"

"I met him at Madame Defarge's, father, Boyd King, an American war correspondent, you know," she hastened to explain. "He is a friend of Louis Defarge. They met in the ranks where they took a great fancy to each other. King was going through France; so Louis wrote to Madame Defarge, asking that she entertain Boyd while a slight wound was healing."

"Father, I love him! I love him—as my mother loved you."

The old man had eagerly raised himself and now interrupted her. "And yet, Marie—"

"I was a command."

Monsieur Andres seemed to be living for that answer. With it he sank slowly back on his pillow, and with his eyes fastened on the girl's face in complete trust, he died.

The girl broke into a passion of uncontrollable grief, but suddenly stopped with a convulsive sob. "The fate of France! My France! rests with me!" kept echoing in her brain. "And I am helpless." She walked listlessly to the window and looked out. The sky was already darkening yet she could deservy a figure coming up the path. It gave her a sudden inspiration. Boyd! Boyd! Of course he was the one to whom she might turn.

Discloses the Value Poetry

"Bill" Irwin, Former Wabash College Baseball Pitcher, Speaks Before Senior English Class.

ALSO EMBRYO JOURNALISTS

Shows Influence Poetry Has Had on His Life and May Have on the Characters of Others.

With a discussion of "The Practical Value of Poetry," striking for its originality of ideas and personality in presentation, "Bill" Irwin, ex-baseball pitcher for Wabash college and more recently principal of the Muskogee schools in Oklahoma, talked to the Senior English class at the regular recitation hour last Friday afternoon. A speech with such "punch" from a man of such "pep" made a deep impression upon the "live-wire" students who were privileged to hear it.

After a clever self-introduction, Mr. Irwin launched into an explanation of the tremendous influence of poetry upon his own character and life. Using quotations from Milton's "L'Allegro," "Il Penseroso," and "Comus," and Burns' "To a Mouse," "To a Louse," and "A Man's a Man for a' That," he showed how these productions had brought him to a real appreciation of aesthetic and spiritual values. He then proved conclusively that the new vision so acquired had been of inestimable benefit to him in his practical works as a traveling salesman for the Allyn and Bacon Book Company. He also cited examples of other people who had secured signal profit from a study of poetry and concluded by urging the pupils to secure character development and practical efficiency in the same way.

Earlier in the day Mr. Irwin talked to the students in journalism on the value of directness in speech and writing. His remarks were timely and met with well-deserved applause.

service I have just performed for you tonight I ask this price. That you surrender that very dangerous and very precious package to General Krauss, my superior officer."

There was a deep silence, broken only by the measured tread of a sentry. The girl grew tense.

"Monsieur Von Wildenburg, I pay the price. Not to you do I pay it, but to France. And the price is my life." A tiny revolver glittered in her hand. A bullet pierced the package as it dropped. There was a tremendous explosion.

Where the tents had gleamed white there was only a void. It was very dark and the awful silence was not even broken by the measured tread of a sentry.

J. V. Masters Gives Illustrated Lecture Regarding Cathedral to Senior High School

I. U. PROVIDES THE VIEWS

Shows How Various Additions Have Marred the Beauty of the Structure of Westminster

Westminster Abbey was temporarily transferred to the Annex Auditorium yesterday morning when Professor J. V. Masters gave an illustrated lecture on the famous cathedral to the members of the Senior high school. The clear and interesting explanations of the speaker, supplemented by stereopticon views secured from Indiana University, made a vivid impression upon the students and convinced them that the beauties of the coronation church had not been exaggerated in either history nor literature.

"Westminster Abbey is admirable in design but absurd in detail," said Mr. Masters in describing the exterior of England's greatest cathedral. He then proceeded to show how various additions had marred each of the various parts was in itself a model of architectural symmetry and beauty. He next described the interior of the church and told many interesting anecdotes concerning its history and the lives of various celebrities either buried or commemorated there. Especially interesting were the discussions and pictures of the tomb of Henry V, the chapel of Henry VII, the sepulchre of Edward the Confessor, and "Poet's Corner," where a bust of Longfellow evidences England's esteem for America's best-beloved poet. In conclusion he quoted statistics to show the incredible height of the nave which is considered the most majestic corridor in all the realm of architecture.

Mr. Masters delivered his lecture with his usual perfect enunciation and with a poise which marked him as a practiced speaker. The slides were unusually good and the success of the whole entertainment augurs well for other lectures of a similar nature but on different subjects.

Girl Winner In Speed Test

Gertrude Wilkinson Will Receive Certificate of Efficiency For Record on Typewriter.

ANY NUMBER MAY WIN IT

(Katherine Todd.)

In a test of speed held among the pupils of the typewriting class of the local high school, Gertrude Wilkinson has been declared winner and will receive as a reward a certificate of efficiency.

This certificate is offered by the Remington Typewriter Company to any student in school who writes for the space of five consecutive minutes, twenty-five words a minute with not more than five errors. Any number of students from the same class may receive the prize provided they qualify according to the regulations of the contest.

The present typewriting class of which Miss Wilkinson is a member is under the supervision of Mrs. Twoomey, director of the commercial department.

Report cards for the last six weeks period will be given to students at their regular recitation on Monday. The usual examination

The members of the D. T. Club met with Mrs. Knowles Casady yesterday afternoon, at her home in West Ninth street. Needle work furnished a splendid pastime for the guests. A dainty repast was served by the hostess.

Twelve members of the Yomo club enjoyed a delightful pitch-in supper last night with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hosier. The center decoration of the table was a large bunch of carnations and ferns, which was presented to the hostess by the club members. Engrossing games of cards furnished entertainments for the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kennedy were pleasantly surprised last evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Lon Kennedy and Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMillin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Tompkins and son John K., and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kennedy and son, John, went to their home for a social evening, in celebration of their first wedding anniversary. After a splendid pitch-in supper was served, cards formed a pleasant pastime.

The home of Mrs. O. C. Brann presented a charming appearance when she entertained twelve members of the Wednesday afternoon club and two guests, Mrs. Cowger of Indianapolis, and Mrs. George Helm. Potted plants and white carnations brightened the rooms of the home. During the business meeting, there was the annual election of officers, as follows: president, Mrs.

Grant Gregg; vice-president, Mrs. A. T. Mahan; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Sam Innis. Sewing and fancy-work featured the remaining hours of the afternoon, after which a two course luncheon was served.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bell of Union township was the scene of an unusually happy gathering, Wednesday, when all of their children and grandchildren were present to celebrate the seventy-fifth birthday of Mr. Bell. A bounteous four course dinner was served at noon, the dining table being adorned with a huge bowl of spring flowers. Those enjoying the reunion were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mrs. Fred Caldwell was a chafin-horess to the members of the Social Dozen yesterday afternoon. After a pleasant afternoon over needle work, splendid refreshments were served to the twelve guests.

The members of the Pirate bridge club were royally entertained by Mrs. R. L. Tompkins yesterday afternoon. After the intensely interesting rounds at cards, the guests were served with a dainty luncheon.

Mrs. Louis Manzy was a delightful hostess to the members of her Bridge club yesterday afternoon, at her home in North Harrison street. After the close of the card games, the hostess served a splendid two course luncheon.

Twenty-five were present at the regular meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church, yesterday, when it met with Mrs. D. D. VanOsdol, in West Third street. Talks were given by Miss Frazee and Miss Macey. The members of the second division of the society brought the provisions for the market, the sale of which was a great success. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

The Ladies Aid society of the Catholic church held its regular meeting with Mrs. M. M. Coyne yesterday afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Joe Caldwell, with fourteen members in attendance. During the business meeting, they decided to hold a bazaar, the exact date not being decided upon. The guests also worked on a quilt, which will be sold at the bazaar.

Films at Graham Annex Reveal Dayton, Ohio, Has Been Doing What is Attempted Here

PICTURES ARE EXPLAINED

"The Troubles of a Storekeeper" is Picture Which Teaches Business Men a Lesson

The civic improvement film shown at the Graham Annex auditorium last evening under the auspices of the Retail Merchants association, was very timely and appropriate because it showed that the very things which are being attempted now to prevent further increases in the high cost of living because of the war, can be accomplished because Dayton, Ohio, has been doing it for a long time. There was no admission fee. Approximately three hundred persons saw this community betterment film as well as "The Troubles of a Storekeeper and How to Correct Them."

The story of how Dayton, Ohio, became the city of flower and vegetable gardens was shown with motion pictures and stereopticon views. The pictures were explained by an expert from the plant of The National Cash Register company.

This lecture was secured by the association—for the express purpose of creating great activity in this community along garden lines. They are the only pictures of the kind now being shown, and in themselves, are a real novelty.

About a year ago, the cash register company decided to carry the story of "The Troubles of a Storekeeper" to the people throughout the world by means of motion pictures, and arrangements were immediately made to have this film taken. Expert actors were put to work, and, after many months of hard work and preparation, the expenditure of some $30,000.00, the film has finally been produced, and is being shown throughout the country. It is received with enthusiasm everywhere. Thousands have seen it and have taken the opportunity to see it again. There is a lesson in every passing picture, and a splendid story is carried throughout the whole film.

The film, though but a few months old, has been shown before associations of merchants and business men from coast to coast and from the Canadian line to New Orleans. It tells the story of Mr. White, an unsuccessful grocery storekeeper. As the scenes of the picture pass, the reasons he is unsuccessful become clear.

He occupies an old style building. High windows prevent proper display of goods. His sidewalk is dirty and the interior of his store disorganized. He carries good goods but lacks system. Service is slow, mistakes occur, sales people are indifferent. Mr. White's own time is too taken up with details to meet his patrons and attend to the bigger things of the business. Of course he loses customers and falls behind in payments to his banker and wholesaler.

He is discouraged and almost bankrupt when through the agency of an outsider he is persuaded to right about face. He cleans up his store and installs system. From that day forward his losses are turned into profits.

DRIVER ESCAPES UNHURT

Adams Produce Co., Truck Damaged When it Hits a Pole

Ben Manlove, driver of the Adams Produce company's auto truck, barely escaped serious injury this morning when he lost control of the machine and it went into the ditch and hit a telephone pole. The pole was snapped in two and came crashing through the windshield and driver's cab, but he successfully dodged it. The accident happened one mile north of Glenwood. The right front wheel was also smashed and the radiator was damaged. The truck did not turn over.

The Boy

He knows what he wants. Just put an EXTRAGOOD suit upon him.

These EXTRAGOOD clothes fill the bill. Carefully made. Seams straight. Buttons well sewed. No careless work.

The boy really cares about looks—whether one shoulder is crooked because the coat is poorly made, for example. If trousers do not hang right, they are uncomfortable for him. If metal buttons tear off, he suffers.

Buy EXTRAGOOD clothes and these things do not happen. These suits not only have good style but they are thoroughly well made. Try them.

NOTICE

Owing to the existing public emergency, the President of this Company has directed that all land of the Company (outside the roadbed and ditches) which is not needed for company use, shall be thrown open to cultivation without charge for rental.

Permission to cultivate any piece of land will be given by the foreman in charge of the section. Preference will be given to any employee who can himself or whose immediate family can actually cultivate the piece chosen, otherwise such land shall be open to the general public on application to the section foreman. No charge of any kind will be made and no right to sub-let or hold without cultivating will be given.

This, of course, does not affect any rental contracts already made.

$100.00 REWARD.

$100.00 in gold will be paid to whoever suggests the name that the judges select as the one best suited for our new remedy, the wonder tonic Tablet.

This formula has now been completed. It has been passed upon and pronounced good by prominent authorities. It is the last word in a remedy that builds, rejuvenates, invigorates the pale, the tired, the listless.

It is all ready—but the name.

We want the public to name this new wonder remedy and will give $100.00 for that name.

Send in your suggestions—as many or as few as you like. The selection will be made by a board of five competent men whose decision shall be final and irrevocable and everyone who submits any suggestions thereby agrees to accept and abide by the decision of the Board of Judges.

Contest is open to all excepting the employees of this Company. There are no conditions, no restrictions nor entrance fee.

Send in your suggestions promptly. Every suggestion will be numbered in the order of its receipt. Contest closes May 1, 1917.

Mail all suggestions to the Board of Judges, Care of The Santal Remedies Co., Masonic Temple, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Additional Society

The regular meeting of the Ladies Musicales will be in the assembly room of the court house next Monday afternoon.

The Psi Iota Xi meeting will be with Mrs. Carl Gunning Monday evening instead of Wednesday, assisted by Miss Frances Frazee.

The Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church of New Salem met with Mrs. Ray Compton, yesterday afternoon with Miss Mildred Marks as leader. Easter flowers were used as a decoration and added beauty to the home. An interesting program was carried out as follows: reading "People Will Talk," by Mrs. Holman; Bible study, Mrs. Abbott; recitation, Miss Mary Evelyn Cook; Bible lesson, Mrs. Holman; recitation Miss Mary Anna Holman. Patriotic songs were sung in chorus. Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the afternoon.

GREAT REJOICING BY RHEUMATIC CRIPPLES

If So Crippled You Can't Use Arms or Legs Rheumatism Will Help You or Nothing to Pay.

If you want relief in two days, swift, certain, gratifying relief, take one-half teaspoonful of Rheumatism once a day. If you want to dissolve every particle of uric acid poison in your body and drive it out through the natural channels so that you will be free from rheumatism, get a 50-cent bottle of Rheumatism from your druggist today. Rheumatism is a powerful disease, strongly entrenched in joints and muscles. In order to conquer it a powerful enemy must be sent against it. Rheumatism is the enemy of rheumatism—an enemy that conquers it every time. Judge John Barhorst of St. Laramie, Ohio, knows it. He was walking with crutches; today he is well. It should do as much for you; it seldom fails. Rheumatism is sold with a guarantee by JOHNSON'S DRUG STORE.

EXPLAINS WHAT THE I. & C. WILL DO IN LOOP ORDNANCE

that is to operate the loop can grant to interurban electric railways the right to use the loop on "proportionally equal terms, said terms to be determined on the basis of the total cost of operation and a reasonable return upon the investments." This ordinance and contract now under consideration says that this must be granted by the Cincinnati Traction Company. It moreover says that the Cincinnati Traction Company much also permit the use of its surface tracks to allow interurban cars to go over them so as to enter the rapid transit loop. It is said that the Cincinnati Traction will have absolute control over the terms and conditions, which shall govern the use of the loop or entrance to it by interurbans.

This is not the fact. If the interurbans do not like the terms proposed by the Cincinnati Traction Company and the Rapid Transit Commission fixes the terms itself, and the Cincinnati Traction Company can not effect this decision unless those terms are in conflict with the lease, and of course, the Rapid Transit Commission will never grant terms that were in conflict with the lease. Moreover, the ordinance also provides that if any existing contracts with the interurbans want canceled they should be canceled at once upon the fixing of these new terms by the Rapid Transit Commission, so that whether the Cincinnati Traction Company has been fair or not in the making of these former contracts they will all thus be wiped out.

The company which I represent owns and operates one hundred miles of interurban road out of Indianapolis, one line by way of Shelbyville to Greenville, the other by way of Rushville to Connersville. We propose to leave the last-named line at Rushville, forty-one miles from Indianapolis, and run direct to Cincinnati by way of Metamora, Brookville, Harrison, O., and thence to Cincinnati by way of the Cincinnati & Westwood Railway to Queen City avenue. From that point we will have to go 3,000 feet on Queen City avenue to reach the loop, thence down town to the heart of the city. The distance by our road will be 111 miles from the terminal in Indianapolis to the terminal in Cincinnati and will connect two great cities by a road that can run its own cars in three hours from one city to the other. If there were city tracks on Queen City avenue this ordinance would give us the right to run on the city tracks to the loop, and so in like conditions to any other interurbans desiring to reach the loop.

There is nothing in the ordinance in any way tampering with the interurban. It does not finance our companies, of course. We must finance them ourselves, but it does give a quick entrance to the heart of Cincinnati and will enable us to handle our passengers with entire satisfaction.

I am pleased with one thing in the situation in Cincinnati. You have for a long time been wanting interurbans and asking for them, and now you have set out to get them.

Do You Know How to Select a Rug?

In the purchase of a rug few people have the scientific knowledge of rug making necessary in order to choose the best. "Three Shot," "Frame" and "Wire" are terms unknown to the average rug purchaser, and indeed to many salesmen. Formerly one must rely on the salesman's judgment; now this trade-mark woven in the back of every yard of the rug is your guarantee of surpassing quality.

That's Why we Sell Whittall Rugs

We know, in common with many satisfied owners, that no matter how much we claim for them our statements will be borne out by the rugs themselves.

COME IN AND SEE OUR SPRING STOCK—There are new ones coming in all the time, in the latest patterns and colors.
